These towers are held to be one of the leading examples of 20th century Latin American architecture, designed by Rogelio Salmona, the epitome of Colombian architecture of the 1960s.

Torres del Parque de Salmona Bogota Colombia in Colombia