Neiva's golf courses require a lot of accuracy.

The city of Neiva is the capital of the department of Huila. This is one of the main cities in the south of Colombia. Its economic activity is based on agriculture, cattle-ranching, commerce and mining.

Neiva has golf courses designed on the shores of the Magdalena River, where golfers can enjoy wide and flat fairways requiring precision, especially at the start to avoid difficulties later in the game.

The climate represents a big challenge for golfers due its great influence on the players.

In this course, the climate represents a big challenge for golfers as it influences the game highly. The climatic characteristics and the beautiful landscape with the largest river in Colombian flowing through it, make these golf courses a great and challenging experience for any player looking to be tested.
