The Barrancabermeja golf courses enjoy a warm climate.

Barrancabermeja: Choose a new game

Barrancabermeja is a town in the department of Santander and it is the site of the country's largest oil refinery. The refinery is 136km from Bucaramanga, on the shores of the Magdalena River, in an area by the name of Magdalena Medio.

A substantial part of the city's economy is based around the oil and petrochemical industry.

The course is ideal for experimenting with different golfing styles.

The golf courses in Barrancabermeja enjoy an average temperature of 28° C, which requires a certain amount of preparation from the player to endure such a warm climate. The quality of the game is an important aspect of these golf courses as the courses are perfect for experimenting with different styles of play.
