

{rokbox title=Aerial photo of the Bucaramanga Country Club.}images/stories/turistainternacional/Quehacer/deporteyaventura/golf/campestre-bucaramanga.jpg{/rokbox}

Aerial photo of the Bucaramanga Country Club.

Bucaramanga: A golfing adventure next to the great Chicamocha Canyon

Bucaramanga is the capital of the department of Santander. It is located 1,000 meters above sea level. Bucaramanga is a place where majestic landscapes, from the Chicamocha Canyon to El Gallineral Park, bring together the region's natural, cultural and architectural attractions.

Bucaramanga's many attractions make it an ideal destination for practicing golf surrounded by totally natural and extreme landscapes.

This city is characterized as an industrial, university and commercial city with a mild climate. The department has a hotel infrastructure which lets you explore the whole Santander area in a friendly and hospitable environment.

With so many attractions, Bucaramanga has become the ideal destination for playing golf in an outstanding natural setting.

Experience playing golf in the mountain next to the Chicamocha Canyon on courses designed by international figures such as Jack Nicklaus and Mark Mahannah. Enjoy the rivers, nature and mountains that offer a challenge for any sportsman.