La práctica de golf en Cartagena está enmarcada por la belleza de la ciudad.

New Karibana Resort combines caribbean beach and golf for best of all worlds

Imagine an 18-hole golf course created by world-famous Nicklaus Design. Next to a mile-long beach on the Caribbean Ocean. Just outside the magical city of Cartagena, a place with old-world charm, but modern, urban amenities. With weather so perfect you can golf 365 days a year. This vision will soon be a reality at the new Karibana Beach and Golf Resort and Condominiums, scheduled open later this year.

Just two hours by flight from Miami, 12 minutes from the Rafael Núñez International Airport and 20 minutes from the historic center of Cartagena, the Karibana Resort will offer easy access to those who wish to discover the breathtaking northern coast of Colombia, while swinging their clubs. The Karibana will also provide access to a natural lake, a driving range, an exclusive golf club, a beach house, swimming pools, a village center, a hotel and spa, a dock, tennis courts, a four-mile cart path for jogging and biking, and residences. Golf course memberships are included with the purchase of an apartment and no memberships will be sold separately. Management services will be available for the rental of properties.

Colombia boasts the third largest number of golf courses in Latin America and has emerged as a top global destination for golf enthusiasts with its more than 55 golf courses. The country hosted the PGA Tour's first sanctioned event in South America earlier this year.
